Description

An interactive Haiku series about writing haikus. It consists of 7 haikus that all link to each other in a big circle. That makes 8 pages in total including the landing page. Each haiku is linked together by a word that they both share. The shared word is what determines the placement of the haiku on the next page. Behind the shared word that will connect the current haiku to the next haiku will be a circle. I intend to use CSS animations to blow up the circle to the size of the page after the user clicks the word and they're taken to the next page. Each haiku is accompanied by a simple illustration illustrating the poem.
